Asian and Asian Diaspora Studies

This program is designed for students interested in serious intensive research on the languages, history, politics, and cultures of Asia and/or the Asian diasporas. The geographic region of Asia includes countries such as Bangladesh, China, India, Japan, Korea, Mongolia, Pakistan, the Philippines, Taiwan, and Vietnam. In consultation with the program advisor, students may focus their coursework on a sub-region of Asia, on one of the Asian diasporas, or design their program to offer a comparative study across different regions and/or cultural groups. The goal of the program is to provide balanced coverage of language, humanistic and social science offerings on the region and to expose students to some comparative perspectives within the region. The MIT Departments of Global Languages, History, and Political Science offer a substantial number of subjects related to Asia and the Asian diasporas.

As noted in the degree chart (http://catalog.mit.edu/degree-charts/humanities-course-21), the program includes a minimum of nine subjects (108 units) beyond the pre-thesis tutorial (21.THT) and thesis (21.THU). The nine subjects must include two language subjects in Area I (or equivalent proficiency); the seven remaining subjects must be selected from at least two of the three other disciplinary areas (Areas II–IV).

- Area I: Language
- Area II: Humanities and the Arts
- Area III: Social Sciences
- Area IV: Historical Studies

For the thesis requirement, students choose a topic in consultation with an MIT faculty member whose specialty falls within Asian Studies; the thesis research may include knowledge of an Asian language.

Up to six subjects (72 units) may be used for both the major and the GIRs, but the units from those subjects may not count toward the 180 units required beyond the GIRs. No more than one subject that counts toward the distribution component of the HASS Requirement may also be counted toward the requirements of the Asian and Asian Diaspora Studies program. In addition, at least eight of the subjects required for the program cannot count toward any other major or minor.

The language requirement can be satisfied by taking two intermediate (Levels III and IV) subjects in an Asian language. Students with proficiency at this level in the spoken and written language can either take two more advanced language subjects (highly recommended), or two more courses from Areas II, III and IV. Chinese and Japanese are taught at MIT. Subjects about Asia and the Asian diaspora, as well as subjects in Asian languages, are also available from Harvard University and Wellesley College through cross-registration. Students must receive permission from the advisor prior to registering for a class at another institution.

The list of restricted electives below is not exhaustive. Additional information can be obtained from the advisor for the program, Professor Emma Teng (eteng@mit.edu), 14N-303, 617-253-4536, or from the SHASS academic administrator, Andrea Wirth (awirth@mit.edu), 4-240, 617-253-4441.

Restricted Electives

Select two subjects in the same language from Area I and seven subjects from at least two of Areas II, III or IV.

Area I: Language

- 21G.103 Chinese III (Regular)
- 21G.104 Chinese IV (Regular)
- 21G.105 Chinese V (Regular): Discovering Chinese Cultures and Societies
- 21G.106 Chinese VI (Regular): Discovering Chinese Cultures and Societies
- 21G.109 Chinese III (Streamlined)
- 21G.110 Chinese IV (Streamlined)
- 21G.113 Chinese V (Streamlined)
- 21G.120 Business Chinese
- 21G.503 Japanese III
- 21G.504 Japanese IV
- 21G.505 Japanese V
- 21G.506 Japanese VI
- 21G.903 Korean III (Regular)
- 21G.904 Korean IV (Regular)

Two intermediate-level subjects in another Asian language

Area II: Humanities and the Arts

- 21G.011 Topics in Indian Popular Culture
- 21G.030 Introduction to East Asian Cultures: From Zen to K-Pop
- 21G.036 Advertising and Media: Comparative Perspectives
- 21G.038 China in the News: The Untold Stories
- 21G.039 Gender and Japanese Popular Culture
- 21G.040 A Passage to India: Introduction to Modern Indian Culture and Society
- 21G.044 Classics of Chinese Literature in Translation
- 21G.046 Modern Chinese Fiction and Cinema
- 21G.063 Anime: Transnational Media and Culture
- 21G.064 Introduction to Japanese Culture
The language requirement can be satisfied by taking two intermediate (Levels III and IV, or Very Fast Track equivalent) subjects in an Asian language. Students with proficiency at this level are encouraged to take two more advanced language subjects, such as 21G.105 Chinese V (Regular): Discovering Chinese Cultures and Societies and 21G.106 Chinese VI (Regular): Discovering Chinese Cultures and Societies or 21G.505 Japanese V and 21G.506 Japanese VI. Alternatively, they may take two more subjects from Areas II, III, and IV. In cases where the student is specializing in an Asian country where English is one of the official languages, in an English-speaking region of the diaspora, or is a native speaker of an Asian language, the Area I component would be replaced by other subjects in consultation with the program advisor.

Other languages may be taken at Harvard or Wellesley through cross-registration, with the permission of the advisor, or at other institutions during IAP or the summer, with permission from the relevant transfer credit examiner.

21G.036[J], 21G.046, 21G.030[J], 21G.038, and 21G.044[J], respectively. These 13-unit alternatives include a research project that is conducted in the language of study.
