Degrees Offered in the School of Humanities, Arts, and Social Sciences

Anthropology (Course 21A)
- SB: Anthropology

Comparative Media Studies/Writing (Course CMS and Course 21W)
- SB: Comparative Media Studies
- SM: Comparative Media Studies
- SB: Writing
- SM: Science Writing

Computer Science, Economics, and Data Science (Course 6-14)
- SB: Computer Science, Economics, and Data Science

Economics (Course 14)
- SB: Economics
- SM: Mathematical Economics
- MA: Economics
- MASc: Data, Economics, and Development Policy
- PhD: Economics
- PhD: Economics and Statistics

Global Languages (Course 21G)
- SB: Global Studies and Languages

History (Course 21H)
- SB: History

Humanities (Course 21)
- SB: Humanities
- SB: Humanities and Engineering
- SB: Humanities and Science

Linguistics and Philosophy (Course 24)
- SB: Linguistics and Philosophy
- SB: Philosophy
- PhD: Linguistics
- PhD: Philosophy

Literature (Course 21L)
- SB: Literature

Music and Theater Arts (Course 21M)
- SB: Music
- SB: Theater Arts

Political Science (Course 17)
- SB: Political Science
- SM: Political Science
- PhD: Political Science
- PhD: Political Science and Statistics

Science, Technology, and Society (STS)
- SB: Science, Technology, and Society
- PhD: History, Anthropology, and Science, Technology, and Society

Notes

Many departments make it possible for a graduate student to pursue a simultaneous master’s degree.

1. See Interdisciplinary Programs (http://catalog.mit.edu/interdisciplinary).

2. Students majoring in one of the designated interdisciplinary major fields within SHASS receive the generic SB degree in Course 21, Humanities.