No regular classes are offered by the Department of Aeronautics and Astronautics during the summer term.

By prior arrangement with a Course 16 faculty member, current MIT students can register for arranged-unit subjects such as UROP, independent study, and special topics in AeroAstro. In addition, Course 16 students can receive credit for graduate thesis work, curricular practical training (CPT), and for internships, as required by a student's employer.

The following subject has subsidized tuition (<https://catalog.mit.edu/summer/tuition-financial-aid>): 16.THG Graduate Thesis.
